COUNSEL

The rule is the same in every enactment. Your counsel can confirm which state's enactment governs a particular account, and we welcome that review at liens@eastshoreequities.com

TERMS FOR THIS REFERENCE

This reference reproduces the text of Section 9-406 of the Uniform Commercial Code as published by each jurisdiction's official publication when it was retrieved, with links to those publications and to each jurisdiction's public filing office. Statutes are amended, publications are revised and addresses change. The official publication of each jurisdiction, as it stands when you read it, controls over anything shown here, and before relying on any text, citation or link on these pages you are to confirm it against that publication. East Shore Equities makes no representation that any text, citation, link or other content on these pages is current, complete, accurate or free of error, and accepts no liability for any reliance on it. These pages state no position on how any enactment applies to any person, account or transaction; that is a question for your counsel.
